RELIABILITY AND MAINTENANCE IN THE CONNECTED ERA

Today's sophisticated engineering systems such as transportation systems, energy systems, and communication systems require advanced reliability modeling and optimal maintenance strategies to ensure their safe, reliable, and cost-effective operation to serve the needs of our society. APARM 2020 provides an excellent platform for researchers who develop innovating ideas, developers who provide solution tools, and users who realize values for operators of engineering systems.

Organizations are invited to sponsor this event and advertise your achievements in relevant fields.
